

A PRETTY HOME WEDDING

MARRIED UNDER A BEAUTIFUL BOWER OF GREEN PLANTS

The New Home will be Made in Nova Scotia—Other Weddings in the County.

The home of Mrs. Mary Beard on North Washington street was the scene of a very pretty home wedding at high noon on last Wednesday when her daughter, Miss Lillian Grace Beard, and Rev. Calvin Brewer of Bridgewater, Nova Scotia, were united in marriage.

The wedding took place in the parlor decorated with palms and ferns, the ceremony taking place beneath an arbor of rubber vine. The wedding party entered the parlor to the Lohengrin Wedding March played by Miss Carrie Hamilton. Miss Flora Beard, sister of the bride, was maid of honor and was followed by the bridesmaids, Misses Fannie and Virginia Beard, sisters of the bride, and Miss Anna McCullough of Shippensburg, a cousin of the bride. The best man was Arthur Wagner of Harrisburg, and John Weaver, William McCullough of Shippensburg, and Clinton Beard, brother of the bride were ushers. The last to enter the parlor were the bride and groom. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Joel E. Grubb of New Kingston, a classmate of the groom, assisted by Rev. L. D. Ott, pastor of the bride.

The bride wore a handsome gown of white French mousseline, semi-princess style with a train, trimmed with lace insertion and medallions. She wore a tall veil, caught with orange blossoms and carried bride's roses. The maid of honor and bridesmaids were dressed in white.

After the ceremony a luncheon was served. Rev. and Mrs. Brewer left on 3 o'clock train on W. M. R. R. for Baltimore and Washington. They returned to this place yesterday, Tuesday, and will be here for about two weeks and then visit New York, Boston, Halifax and Yarmouth. They will reside at Bridgewater, N. S., where Rev. Brewer is pastor of the Lutheran church. He graduated in 1905 from Gettysburg College and later from the Lutheran Seminary at Chicago. The bride received a large number of handsome presents of silver, cut glass, china, linen, rugs and money.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. McCullough and Miss Anna McCullough of Shippensburg; Miss L. V. Beard, Miss J. J. Zimmerman, J. Elmer Zimmerman, E. E. Zimmerman of Emmitsburg; Mrs. MacMullin of Harrisburg; Victor Roland of Everett; Mr. Ehrhart of Glenview; N. L. Biesecker, Mr. and Mrs. John Biesecker, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Biesecker, Mr. John Chase, R. L. Biggs, S. R. Diehl, Mrs. Harvey Beard and daughter, Florence, Master Calvin Biesecker, Mrs. Beard, Miss Kate Chamberlin, Mr. and Mrs. Biesecker, Miss Ruth Biesecker, of Orrtanna; Mrs. Aaron Cutschall, daughter Bertha and son Luther of Tillie; Burns Kadel of Waynesboro; Mrs. Ellen Wagner, Mrs. Mary Helges of Arendtsville; Rev. and Mrs. Grubb of New Kingston.

GARDNER—WEAVER—On last Wednesday, Miss Mary E. Weaver daughter of Mrs. Caroline Weaver of West Middle Street and Paul C. Gardner of Hagerstown were married at the home of the bride's sister Mrs. Charles Schwartzkopf in Baltimore. The groom had been the operator at the Western Maryland ticket office in this place for several years and was recently promoted to the train dispatcher's office at Hagerstown. Mr. and Mrs. Gardner, went on a wedding trip to Philadelphia and Atlantic City.

SHINABERG—FREY—July 19th at Allentown, by Rev. Herman, Miss Cora E. Frey of Philadelphia daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Frey of this place and Rollen L. Shinaberg of Philadelphia were united in marriage.

A Large Contract.

When L. M. Buehler the enterprising druggist, first offered a 50 cent package of Dr. Howard's specific for the cure of constipation and dyspepsia at half price, and guaranteed to return the money if it did not cure, he thought it probable from his experience with other medicines for these diseases that he would have a good many packages returned. But although he has sold hundreds of bottles, not one has been brought back.

L. M. Buehler wants every person in Gettysburg who has constipation, dyspepsia, headaches, or liver trouble to come to his store or send L. M. Buehler 25 cents by mail and get 60 doses of the best medicine ever made at half the regular price, with his personal guarantee to refund the money if it does not cure.

To those suffering with dizziness, headache, poor digestion, constipation and straining, Dr. Howard's specific offers quick relief. It is an invaluable boon to all who feel uncomfortable after eating, and is to-day the popular dinner pill in all the great cities.

Brick Co. Wins Contract.

Mr. Tippery, the resident manager of the Gettysburg plant of the Auburn Shale Brick Company, has made a number of experiments with the material at hand here and has satisfied his company that the plant has material specially adapted for the making of vitrified street paving brick. Few deposits of shale or clay have been found in Pennsylvania or Maryland that will vitrify and will make a street paving block standing all required tests. Nearly all vitrified blocks are made in Ohio plants and shipped east. Mr. Tippery has, however, made vitrified paving blocks at the Gettysburg plant, the equal of any similar block in the country, and last week this block went up against four other makes upon bids asked for by Carlisle and came off victor with the lowest bid and the Gettysburg plant was given the contract for 50,000 first quality blocks at $18 per thousand.

This material right at our doors should suggest to the authorities of this borough to investigate into the question of paving streets of Gettysburg with vitrified brick. There would be no freight expenses for the brick, the home company under all the circumstances might be able to make concessions in the matter of price and could give full information as to laying same, cost, and so forth. Let the town authorities look into the matter and give the information to the public for this may be the right solution of our street problem.

Cash Road Tax in Force.

In issue of Compiler of two weeks ago attention was called to the new road law and every township was urged to get in shape to be entitled to the fifty cent bonus on every dollar of road tax paid in cash. We had gathered the impression that the cash road tax was not in force and to put it in force each township would have to vote on the question. This conclusion was a mistake.

Our attention being called to the language of Act by a valued subscriber, as inaugurating a cash road tax without any election on the question, a communication was sent to the authorities at Harrisburg asking for their interpretation of the new law and the reply is:

"There is no question whatever as to the purpose of the Act of 1909. After March, 1910, every second-class township in the state will be compelled by law to collect its road tax in cash unless application is made to Court for authority to hold a special election and at such election a majority of the citizens shall vote to continue on the work tax basis. Any board of Supervisors, who after March, 1910, shall attempt to continue the work tax system—unless authorized so to do by majority vote of the citizens—will be liable to an action for violation of the law."

Road taxes must be paid in cash next year and there isn't a township in Adams county can afford to turn down a gift of fifty cents on every dollar of cash tax paid to be received from the State. There is no township with good enough roads to throw away the fifty cents on every dollar paid in taxes. The cash tax from citizens and fifty cents bonus from State assures for the future better roads than county has ever had.

One of the imperative duties of the new Act is to measure the roads by a cyclometer or otherwise and Boards of Supervisors must do this within six months of passage of Act or before Nov. 13.

Kicked by Horse and Ribs Broken.

William P. Wentz met with an accident on Monday of last week that put him out of commission for some days at his business of blacksmithing. He was shoeing a horse and the restless animal began to kick striking Mr. Wentz on the side and throwing him quite a distance. Upon examination several ribs were found to be broken.

Labor Troubles.

The men engaged on the granite work of the new Bank building of the Gettysburg National Bank were ordered to quit work by the Secretary of their Union on Tuesday of last week. They had been working longer hours than their rules allowed, and this was interfering with the shipping of stone to this point as the infringement of the rules had become known. A new force of granite men were secured and went to work last Wednesday, and those ordered to quit left town at once.

THE SHADOW OF DEATH

DEVOTED WIFE AND MOTHER TAKEN FROM GETTYSBURG.

A Wounded Soldier at Gettysburg Carried to His Sister's Home Passes Away.

MRS. ALBERTA ARMOR, wife of Wm. D. ARMOR, of East Middle street, fell asleep on last Wednesday evening, July 28, after an illness of five months, from Bright's disease, aged 42 years, 11 months and 17 days. Her death is one of the sad and inexplicable mysteries of life, a young woman in the flush of maturity, enjoying good health, the happy mother of a happy home of children, seven in number, in the early part of this year without any apparent cause suddenly developed kidney trouble of a nature that has been baffling medical science for years. The disease rapidly developed and in a few months time has cut down the devoted wife and mother. For weeks there was no hope and knowingly she calmly and patiently faced the inevitable. The sympathy of the entire community went out to the stricken mother and her family hoping against hope that she would be spared. Mrs. ARMOR was a native of York, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Basehoar of that city. Shortly after marriage she came to this place with her husband and was a helpmate in every sense of the word. In the work of her husband and was the inspiration of the family of little ones, their care and happiness making up her life. She was a member of St. James Lutheran church. The funeral was held on Saturday, services being conducted by Rev. Dr. Jacob A. Clutz, and interment in the Evergreen cemetery. She leaves her husband and seven children, Robert, Benlah, Howard, Percy, Horace, Bradley and Clarence. She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Basehoar of York and two brothers and one sister, Dr. H. E. Basehoar and Harry W. Basehoar of York, and Mrs. George Yeagy of Baltimore.

ANDREW J. KOSER died on Tuesday evening of last week at his home in Biglerville from the effects of the injuries received on the previous Saturday night, when he was struck when trying to stop two racing teams, and was thrown to the ground with such force as to crush his skull. The injuries were believed to be fatal. He never regained consciousness from the time of the accident until death. As stated last week, on the Sunday following the accident he was 66 years of age. The funeral was held on Thursday, with interment at the Friends' Meeting House, near Bendersville. He is survived by his wife and an only son, G. W. Koser of Biglerville.

JOHN M. MORRISON died at his home near Hampton on Sunday, July 25, aged 50 years. His death was very sudden and unexpected, heart disease being the cause. He was a well known farmer and had lived for a number of years near New Chester, but for the past two years has been on Dicks' farm near Hampton. He enjoyed the respect and esteem of all who knew him. He is survived by his wife, Mrs. Jennie Morrison, and several brothers and sisters. The funeral was held on last Wednesday, services by Rev. W. A. Korn and interment at New Chester.

MRS. AGNES E. AUMEN of York, died at the home of her daughter in Baltimore, July 26, aged 69 years, 5 mos. and 22 days. She had been suffering for some time with heart trouble followed by a stroke of paralysis, which caused her death. She was formerly of Adams county. The body was taken to Hanover and funeral was held on last Thursday, Rev. Fr. Huber officiating at the mass of requiem in St. Joseph's Catholic church, and interment in St. Joseph's cemetery. Mrs. Aumen is survived by four sons and two daughters. The sons are John B. Aumen of York, Wm. F. Aumen of Newark, N. J., Charles E. Aumen of Reading, Pa., and Augustus Aumen of Gettysburg. The daughters are Mrs. Margaret Sauerwald of Baltimore, and Mrs. Anna Waltman of York.

HAROLD C. BISHOP, the nineteen year old son of Edward Bishop of Hanover, accidentally came to his death by drowning on last Friday evening in the Codorus Creek near York. He had gone to the creek with three acquaintances. None of the young men were acquainted with the depth of the water, and cautiously began to wade in. Markey was first, and when the water reached his mouth, he began to swim and had progressed about forty feet, when he heard a cry of "help, help," and looking around saw that Bishop was drowning. Being only an ordinary swimmer, it was with difficulty that Markey went to the aid of his companion and tried to save him, but was prevented by the desperate efforts of Bishop, who was grasping for something to save himself. Markey grasped Bishop by the arm, but was unable to keep hold, the unfortunate youth sinking to the bottom of the creek. Bishop could not swim and he sank at least half a dozen times, and each time came to the surface, with force as if he had struck the bottom and then sprang upward. Another young man who had been bathing, but at the time was sitting on the bank, saw Bishop step into a hole, and call for help. There were other bathers in the creek in that locality, but none were able to swim, so that the drowning lad had no succor lent him. Clark Morton, a young man who responded to the call for help, appeared on the scene too late to save the young man, but succeeded in rescuing the body by repeated diving to the bottom of the creek. The young man had gone to York several months ago. It was at first thought he was the son of Samuel L. Bishop of Butler township, who was notified and went to York last Saturday, to find that it was not his son. The identity of the drowned man was soon after established.

LESLIE CHAS. O. HUNT died suddenly at his home in Portland, Ohio, on Saturday, July 24. He was one of the heroes of the battle of Gettysburg, being wounded here in the first day's fight and had an experience that happened to few Union officers, to be taken to the home of a sister and there nursed back to health.

Lieut. Hunt belonged to Stevens' 5th Maine Battery and when that battery passed through Gettysburg on the morning of July 1st, he remarked to a brother officer, "If ever I am to be wounded, it should be here for my sister lives over there," pointing to the house. The sister is believed to have been Mrs. T. D. Carson, a native of Maine, and wife of the cashier of the Gettysburg National Bank at that time and lived in the bank residence.

Late in the afternoon of that July 1st, Gen. Wadsworth ordered Cooper's Battery to fall back and hold Cemetery Hill. The order was mistaken as taken on north side of Seminary and Gen. Doubleday sent Stevens' Battery to the same point, taking position on the south side of Seminary. These twelve guns opened on the lines of the advancing Confederates to discover that the infantry were in full retreat and they had little time to fall back and go on a gallop for the town. In the fight at the Seminary where their position was charged by the enemy, Lieut. Hunt was wounded. Later in the day he was brought to his sister's home, where he remained through the battle. He visited Gettysburg several years ago.

MRS. SUZANNE SPANGLER died on July 25 of paralysis, in Huntington township at an advanced age. Interment took place on Tuesday of last week at Upper Meridian Church.

MRS. HARRY SMITH died at home near Wexville on July 23 of dysentery, aged about 38 years. Interment on Monday of last week at Bendersville.

MRS. FRANK ARNOLD died at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Seligman at Pine Grove Furnace last Wednesday, aged 80 years, 4 months and 24 days. She leaves a daughter and a son. Funeral last Friday at Wexville.

MRS. JOANNA ZIEGLER died at the home of her son-in-law John Howard, in Menallen township, on last Wednesday, July 28, aged 56 years, 8 months and 28 days. The funeral was on Saturday, services by Rev. Mr. Waters, interment in Idaville cemetery. She leaves a daughter and son, Mrs. John Howard of Menallen township and Ova J. Ziegler of Steelton.

SAMUEL GEORGE died at his home in Ragley, Iowa, in July, in his 71st year. He was born near Hampton, and lived in that neighborhood for some years going first to Westminster, Md., and then to the West. He is survived by two daughters, four brothers, and six sisters, among the latter are Mrs. Christian Weaver of near Hampton and Miss Rachael Pentz, who formerly lived near Bermudian.

MRS. SUSAN MILLER, widow of the late John B. Miller, died last Friday, July 30, at her home near New Baltimore, aged 78 years, 7 months and 4 days. She is survived by the following children: Mrs. Jos. H. Forry, Mrs. Edward B. Miller, of New Baltimore, and J. Edward Miller, of Hamilton Twp., Adams County. Also the following sisters: Mrs. Barbara Miller, of White Hall, Mrs. Elizabeth Shaffer, of Wootto, Mrs. Jacob Renold, of East Berlin. The funeral was yesterday, Tuesday, Aug. 3. Burial and service at Bair's meeting house. Rev. A. M. Heidman conducted the services.

MRS. HELEN HENDRIX died on Sunday evening at her home in New Oxford at an advanced age. She was taken ill in the morning and lingered until the evening. She was the last of the eight children of Col. George and Helen Barnitz Himes, who settled in New Oxford about one hundred years ago in 1810. Mrs. Hendrix was born in the first house erected in New Oxford, and spent her entire life there. In 1852 she married Dr. J. W. Hendrix, who died in 1885. Mrs. Hendrix was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church of New Oxford since childhood, and was devoted to her church, and when the present building was erected over 20 years ago donated the lot upon which the church was built, and was one of the largest contributors to the building fund. She was also liberal and active in all good works, and many were her acts of benevolence. The funeral will be held this Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock, from her late home. Rev. Ott will conduct the services, and interment will be made in the New Oxford Cemetery.

The following nieces and nephews survive her: Miss Sue C. Himes, Geo. G. Himes, John X. Hersh, of New Oxford; Mrs. Helen Kieth and H. O. Himes of Gettysburg; Prof. Charles Himes of Carlisle; Choate and Charles Himes of Lancaster county, and Harper A. Himes of New York.

MRS. LOVINA STABLE MOORE died at Harrisburg on July 24, and interment took place at Highville on last Wednesday.

Trolley.

Encouraging progress has been made on the preliminary work of the extension of trolley of Hanover and McSherrystown railway from latter place to Gettysburg. Surveys of line have been made and one that seems to meet with most favor by those back of the movement is from McSherrystown to New Oxford, then to Bonneauville and Gettysburg. The right of way as far as Bonneauville has been largely secured and work on right of way from latter point to Gettysburg is well under way. The road should meet with encouragement from all landowners, as everything is to be said in favor of the good that will accrue to the land owner, and one who stands in the way of such an undertaking is in fact standing in his own light. Trolleys are bound to enhance the value of all lands through which they pass and the farms accessible by trolley in the future will be the ones the value of whose acres will be ascending instead of the other way.

Rev. Baker in Accident.

Rev. Baker, pastor of the Great Congregational Presbyterian Church, had a thrilling accident last week. He was returning to Hunterstown with a spring wagon load of hay. In descending the hill near Hunterstown he was unable to get at the brake on the wagon and so propping himself against the dash board attempted to hold in the horse. But he did not reckon on the weakness of the dash board, for it broke and Rev. Baker slipped down between wagon and horse. The animal upset the wagon and broke away and was caught in Hunterstown. Rev. Baker escaped with a number of bruises.

Delightful Concert

The Citizens' Band of this place have been giving a number of delightful concerts at the ends of the town. On Monday evening the concert was held at the Meade School building, Springs avenue. The week before the concert was on lawn at Battledore Hotel. The High School building on York street and Prep. campus will be points where concerts will be held at early dates. The concerts have been attracting large crowds and are thoroughly enjoyed.

Eye Struck by Nail.

David S. Menchey while walking on a street in Altoona, was struck in the eye by a nail that fell from a building in the course of erection. The eye was so injured that it was thought best to take him at once to a Philadelphia hospital so as to make every possible effort to save the sight of the eye, which was believed to be in danger.

More Merchants Join.

The Retail Merchants Association met in regular session last Friday evening and the Assistant Secretary reported several new members and that the total membership was now forty-one. The town has not been completely canvassed and it is thought that before the list of charter members is completed the number will reach close to 60. There seems to be some misapprehension about the purposes of the Association. It will in no way interfere with an individual's conduct of his own business, but anyone who has anything to sell is standing in his own light by not joining the Association. The necessary blanks were distributed at meeting on Friday night so that the members may report all delinquent customers and a list of these will be made for the use of every member and such a list ought to mean a big saving to every one in business each year. The question up to every merchant is how he will be able to protect himself as he should without the help of the Association.

The question of meetings once or twice a month instead of weekly was discussed to some extent but no conclusion reached as it seemed better to meet weekly until the Association was in good running order.

Improvements

A large stage is being erected at the rear of the Walters theatre on York Street. The stage will be made very commodious and has been built to such a height that curtains will be able to be drawn up out of sight instead of rolled. The frame work of the stage has been erected and outside will be covered with metal as the main theatre building.

Miss Sadie Shriver and Mrs. Edward Shriver have plans ready for a new brick dwelling on York Street. They will tear down the frame building now occupied and on the site erect a double dwelling.

You can purchase trolley tickets on Odd Fellow picnic day at Rufus Bushman's, Chambersburg street and E. R. Setton's Baltimore street. Also from members of the order.

THE STORY OF PROSPERITY

INCREASE IN BUSINESS OF GETTYSBURG DRAIN TILE WORKS.

A Fifty Per Cent. Increase Last Season and Twenty-five Aimed at Now.

The story of prosperity in this community is told by a fifty per cent. increase in the business of the Gettysburg Drain Tile Works, conducted by Chas. S. Speese and J. Edward Pfeffer. Two years ago, the first year these young men operated the plant together they burnt sixteen kilns holding 12,000 of drain tile, or about 200,000. The same year they built a second large kiln with capacity of 28,000. Last years this firm burnt twenty-three kilns of drain tile, or over 400,000. They have doubled their force in the same time and counting themselves for six or seven months they give constant work to not less than nine men and sometimes as many as twelve.

The output of the work this year will not be less than 500,000. Already they have burnt thirteen kilns and before the season is over will have finished almost 30 kilns. The demand for drain tile of the works is enormous and at the close of last year's selling season they had less than 100 tile on hand. The fact is that there is demand for all the tile they can make, it is only a question of making to the capacity of the plant.

The Gettysburg Drain Tile Works has a clay which peculiarly and most successfully meets all demands. There are no nearer drain tile works than Philadelphia and Ohio and not only the entire farming region in this and adjoining counties, but throughout Pennsylvania and Maryland furnish a demand for tile that exhausts and will exhaust any supply this plant may make.

The plant is bound to be a growing one for the reason they have in no way reached the limit of development. The tile machine is operated not over two days out of a week and this will load up the drying racks to their capacity of about 75,000. It takes about four days to burn a kiln but delay is necessitated until kiln has cooled off sufficient to be unloaded. As soon as emptied there are more than enough tile to refill them, and they are loaded burnt, and unloaded just as fast as burning and cooling permits.

The firm has spent on the plant in the past two years over $3,000 in machinery and additions and they assert with the confidence of a prosperous and well managed business that all improvements have been paid for. They have in mind other improvements to increase the capacity of their plant, by another kiln, and are arranging to burn the brick for the same at the close of this season.

One of the features of their business that involved much labor and time was the hauling of the tile to town and loading same on cars. The W. M. R. R. within last week or two has built for this firm a branch beginning near junction of the Hunterstown road with the pike and extending a distance sufficient to accommodate two cars, so that the tile can be loaded with a very short haul and will mean a saving in operation of the plant.

The plant makes a number of sizes of tile, 2 1-2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8 inches. The prosperity of this firm is reflected in another way, for the greater quantity of the drain tile is used by farmers for draining fields and farm land. As the output will amount to over a hundred miles of drain tile this year, that means that prosperous farmers are adding the greater part of this 100 miles to the value of their farms, increasing the area of farming land.

Cement Pavements.

Washington street seems to be in the lead so far this season in the matter of cement pavements. Dr. Wm. M. Biggs is building a cement pavement in front of his residence on Washington street, forming a continuation of the same kind of sidewalk built by Harry Cunningham and Joseph Matthews. For almost a half square on Washington street will be found as good a sidewalk as there is in town.

Charles H. Lady is making rapid progress with the cement pavement at the High School building at corner of York and Hanover streets.

Property owners on the main thoroughfares should get busy. Where the pavements are used by a greater number of people there is a reciprocal obligation on the part of the property owners to maintain good pavements. Because there has been no rain for several weeks is no excuse for the miniature lakes and ponds that will decorate many of the pavements on the main streets as soon as rain comes. The thing to do in this dry season is to put down cement pavements.

A WORLD FAMOUS DAUGHTER

OF ADAMS COUNTY ANCESTRY
OF PIONEER DAYS.

One of the August Magazines Devotes an Article to Mary Cassatt and Her Art.

The August Delineator contains an article on the Art of Mary Cassatt opening with sentence "More than ten years have passed since a great French painter remarked: 'There are only two American artists—Whistler and Mary Cassatt.'"

The ancestry of Mary Cassatt were pioneer settlers and natives of Adams County and this county can look with pride upon the accomplishments of the greatest American Woman painter. While Mary Cassatt can be said to be in a class by herself in this particular, yet the ancestry of another well known woman painter came from this County, Ida Waugh of Philadelphia.

Mary Cassatt is the great-granddaughter of Francis Cassatt, a French Huguenot who in 1764 settled in Straban township. She is the great-granddaughter of David Cassatt, who came to this country with his father and lived and died in Straban township. She is the grand-daughter of Dennis Cassatt, who was born and lived in Straban township, and she is the daughter of Robert Cassatt, the great railroad man of Pittsburgh, identified with the Pennsylvania Railroad during his whole life, and she is the sister of the late A. J. Cassatt President of that railroad. A number of her ancestors lie buried in the Low Dutch graveyard on road between Hunterstown and New Oxford.

Of this daughter of pioneer ancestors of this county the Delineator says:

Although art has advanced with us until it has gained serious recognition by all other nations, Mary Cassatt still holds her place as the "Most Eminent of American Women Painters." In her portrayal of motherhood and childhood she stands alone. "No one else." It has been well said "ever portrayed childhood as she. No one else has observed and made her own the thousand and one little gestures of babyhood."

Miss Cassatt was born in Pittsburgh, and is the daughter and sister of well-known Pennsylvania Railroad magnates. The possessor of an independent fortune, and therefore free from those financial worries which are so often the inheritance of the art student, she found no obstacles in the pursuit of her life-work when she decided to travel and study abroad rather than to live in "Commercial America." This was thirty years ago, when only the cultured few rather than the unlearned many had time or inclination to devote to the study of esthetics.

That her work is gaining recognition in this country as in France (where she is better known) is evident from the decided interest felt in her recent visit to America, the first in twelve years, and the second since she left here about 1879. It was the welcoming of a celebrity.

Miss Cassatt has lived in Holland, Spain and Italy. It was in Italy, however, that she received her most profound art impressions, which have influenced her art throughout her career. This is noticeable in her choice of subjects, their arrangement and in her sentiment. Her mothers are Madonnas, "simple, unassuming and un-moved."

Cleveland as a Fisherman.

Perhaps I can give no better description of Mr. Cleveland as a fisherman than in the language of a brief speech at the neighborly dinner given to the ex-President at Sandwick on the 11th of May, 1895, soon after he had become a summer resident of the Cape, when I said:

If Mr. Cleveland has made a memorable success of his life, is it not owing to the fact that he has both made a pleasure of business and a business of pleasure? His cheerful and infatigable work in office is well known. His Cape Cod neighbors have discovered that he has made a business of pleasure—not a wearing, laborious business, but a cheerful, contented, and persistent business. When my discursive eye has roamed the horizon when it should have followed the line, how often have I heard the warning from the other side of the boat: "If you want to catch fish, attend strictly to business." Why, the guest we honor to-day will fish when it shines and fish when it rains; I have seen him pull up bass in a lively thunder storm, and refuse to be driven from a Cape Cod cove by the worst half-storm I ever witnessed or suffered. He will fish through hammer and heat, lightning and tempest. While the elder and wiser Jefferson and I will go off and dry our clothes, the younger Jefferson—our Cape Cod Prince Charles—and the ex-President will keep on while light holds and bass bite. This, I have discovered, is the secret of "Cleveland luck"; it is hard work and no letup. From Grover Cleveland: A Record of Friendship in the August Century.—By Richard Watson Gilder.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Has surpassed all other medicines in its sales and cures.

Its success, great as it has been, has apparently only just begun.

It has received by actual count more than 40,000 testimonials in two years.

It purifies the blood, cures all blood diseases, all humors and all eruptions.

It strengthens the stomach, creates an appetite and builds up the whole system.

It cures that tired feeling and makes the weak strong.

In usual liquid form or in chocolate tablets known as Sarsatabs, 100 doses $1.

Removing Hayseed by Electricity.

Mr. J. C. Hutchins, president of the Detroit United Railway, has written me of this great movement in Michigan:

"The closthopper of the old days has disappeared from the region around Detroit, and, in these days, it would be difficult, on the streets of our cities, to distinguish, in as far as appearance goes, between the country farmer and the city business man."

It was evident that the trolleys were already raising educational standards in the country. In numerous instances along the Lake Shore Electric Railway the country school boards were paying the children's fare to town with the funds that formerly supported the district school.

It is the opinion of a growing number of educators that one of the best things a student can do is to live on a quiet farm and use the trolley. He has healthy surroundings, plenty of exercise, escapes the temptations and distractions of town life, and his studies are benefited accordingly.

President Angell, of the University of Michigan, declares of the rural trolley: "I trust that it will do something to turn the tide back from city life to country life, which would be most beneficial to this country."

The city theatres are prospering as never before. One evening I counted about two hundred people who had come in on a single line to attend a single city show. And there was little, in their appearance, to differentiate them from ordinary city folk.

In fact, I found the country jake, the hayseed, the genuine closthopper of tradition, extraordinary hard to locate in Ohio. He was still flourishing in those isolated villages and hamlets without transportation facilities, but they are growing steadily rarer in the Middle West.—Robert Haven Schaufler in "Success Magazine."

"The Green Silence of the Forest"

There is a quality in this silence that it is difficult to name and impossible to describe. It is not breathless nor deathlike, and it is never lonely. It is rather a living silence—calm and full of comfort—that quiets the mind like sleep and refreshes every sense. It is soft as the touch of a living hand. It falls upon the earth like distant music and wraps, you soul and body, in peace. Strengthened as by a silent prayer, you wander on in a sort of reverent contentment.

The Hohenweg through the famous Black Forest is no more nor less than a forest path, glorified and monstrously elongated, to be sure, but retaining all the charm of its fascinating prototype in irregularity of breadth, surface and texture. Mostly you find a soft, springy footing of leaf-strewn earth and forest mold, but sometimes there are long stretches, slippery with pine needles and, occasionally, rocks to scramble over. One ten-mile length there is of clean, grass terrace, and, beyond Triberg, you travel a considerable distance upon an unused, sandy road.

Imagine, then, a forest path one hundred and fifty miles long, or rather a connected series of paths and old wood roads, leading through forest and upland meadow, across rivers and among villages, up hill and down, in sunlight and shadow, tempting, fascinating, alluring, and you have at least an idea of the Hohenweg. Fairies may dance on the green summits under the summer moon; Kobolds, doubtless, are busily mining, deep in the mountains, and wood sprites and water nymphs peep out at you from the leafy thickets and cool, dark waters. You may expect anything you please. Your spirit is on tiptoe for adventure, and you have but to hold out your hand to Fancy, that good companion, and follow the Sign of the Road.—From "A Black Forest Pathway," by Frederic van Beuren, Jr., in the August Scribner, (Fiction Number).

Charming Recollections of Edward Everett Hale.

Edward Everett Hale's later literary life was intimately associated with "Woman's Home Companion," to which he was a regular contributor in the last years of his life. The August issue of this magazine contains a number of charming anecdotes about Doctor Hale. His secretary, writing about Doctor Hale, says:

"He loved out of doors, and this was written mornings as we sat on what he called his quarter-deck, at the back of the house, overlooking the garden. So many times he would stop in the middle of a sentence and say, 'This is the kingdom of heaven,' or 'Isn't this as nice as they make it,' or some surprise phrase which showed his joy in life. I always had to make him stop dictating. And he would so often beg, 'Just one sentence more and then I'll be as good as you wish.'"

The house in Roxbury which was his home for so many years was, like himself, built upon generous lines. It is a wide, double house with stately pillars at the front. At the rear of the first floor, was his commodious library, full to overflowing with all sorts of "books which are books." In one of his poems Tennyson describes his garden on the Isle of Wight as a "careless-order'd garden." Hale's library was a careless-order'd library, apparently responding to what his friend Star King would have called a law of disorder. What a captivating retreat it was—especially when its master sat and discoursed in it. He said to me one day when I was in Roxbury, "I'll tell you how I came to get this house. I advertised for it, and put in the advertisement, 'modern improvements no object.'"

Baseball Clubs Steal Signals.

"The lengths to which clubs will go to secure the signals of the opposing teams is astonishing to those not familiar with the game," says Hugh S. Fullerton in the August number of the "American Magazine." He continues:

"To catch a signal legitimately, by observation, by quick thinking, is part of the sport. Marshall of Brooklyn, Kane of Chicago, Dooling of Philadelphia, are past masters of the art of seeing what the opposing batters are trying to do before the effort is made. Efforts have been made in the past to steal signals by the most brazen treachery and unscrupulous methods."

"Perhaps the worst case of this sort ever revealed was that of an old Philadelphia club of the National League. Here was the greatest aggregation of batters ever assembled on one team, but, not satisfied with their natural hitting ability they wanted to go in advance what kind of ball the pitcher was going to serve so as to increase their chances. One of the cleverest men at intercepting signals was employed on a baseball game formulated the plan. Stationing a confederate in the clubhouse in center field, he, with him armed with a powerful pair of field glasses with which to watch the hands of the catchers. At first the confederate 'guided' batters by raising one arm for a fast ball, the other for a curve, then when the opponents grew suspicious he worked from behind a blind and gave the signal by raising or lowering an awning. If the awning was raised a few inches and then in that position a fast ball was coming, and if it was raised and then dropped the signal was for a curve."

"The awning worked well, until it was discovered, and then the catcher and his associates invented something new in baseball. They put electric wires underground connecting the clubhouse with the catchers' box at third base, and buried a small wooden box under the ground, the box containing a 'buzzer.' A certain noisy, obstreperous player was stationed at third base with one foot on the box containing the 'buzzer' and as the signal was sounded the player stationed over the 'buzzer' could feel the tapping under his foot, and by calling in a secret word code he warned the batter what the pitcher was going to pitch."

"Not a regular player on the Philadelphia team batted under 300 per cent. while the 'buzzer' was in operation, and several of their pitchers and catchers were among the leading leaders of the National League."

"Not satisfied with having that much advantage on the home grounds, the man who planned the thing followed his team around the country, renting windows overlooking the grounds in each city and wiggling signals to the batters. He was caught at Brooklyn by some of the Brooklyn players, and, trounced, and after that the method of spying gradually was abandoned."

France Forced To Adopt Modern Forestry

"France will be destroyed for lack of forests," cried one of the greatest statesmen, and the prophecy was very nearly fulfilled. Just 50 years have passed since unprecedented floods in the valley of the Loire, called the attention of the government to the fact that the Central Plateau had been almost entirely denuded, that the fertile soil was being destroyed, the reservoir effect of the forest lost, and a beginning made toward the creation of a desert in the heart of the nation."

Not only the Loire was affected; on the Pyrenees the protection of the Garonne was gone, and in Savoy that of the Rhone. The stripping away of the trees on the mountainsides of Savoy had released the mountain brooks and turned them into torrents. The leading roots rotted away, and tiny streams became gashes, continually widening to chasms. Literally the whole slope of the mountain became a slide.

THEY NEVER FAIL.

That is What They Say About Them in Gettysburg, and It Is Therefore, Reliable.

Another proof more evidence, Gettysburg testimony to swell the long list of local people who endorse the old Quaker remedy, Doan's Kidney Pills. Read the following endorsement of just remarkable reputation:

Mrs. Frank Lawrence, 27 Breckenridge St., Gettysburg, Pa., says: "My son suffered from kidney disease and urinary and probably inherited the trouble. He complained of severe pains in his back and sides, his kidneys were very weak and at times he had a little trouble over the secretions. Any old man caught away settled in a kidney and caused him intense suffering. Reading about Doan's Kidney Pills, I procured a box at the Peoples Drug Store and upon using them my son improved rapidly when he had finished the contents of one box, he was without a sign of kidney complaint. I am glad to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to other persons suffering from the same affliction."

Despair and Despondency

No one but a woman can tell the story of the suffering, the despair, and the despondency endured by women who carry a daily burden of ill-health and pain because of disorders and derangements of the delicate and important organs that are distinctly feminine. The tortures so bravely endured completely upset the nerves if long continued.
Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a positive cure for weakness and disease of the feminine organism.

IT MAKES WEAK WOMEN STRONG,
SICK WOMEN WELL.

It allays inflammation, heals ulceration and soothes pain. It tones and builds up the nerves. It fits for wifehood and motherhood. Honest medicine dealers sell it, and have nothing to urge upon you as "just as good."

It is non-secret, non-alcoholic and has a record of forty years of cures. Ask Your Neighbors. They probably know of some of its many cures. If you want a book that tells all about woman's diseases, and how to cure them at home, send 21 one-cent stamps to Dr. Pierce to pay cost of mailing only, and he will send you a free copy of his great thousand-page illustrated Common Sense Medical Adviser—revised, up-to-date edition, in paper covers, in handsome cloth-binding, 31 stamps. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

PUBLIC SALE OF VALUABLE FARM.

ON THURSDAY, AUG. 5, 1909, the undersigned, D. Guy Hollinger and the Citizens Trust Company of Gettysburg, Pa., guardian of S. Claire Hollinger, will offer at public sale on the premises the following described real estate:

A tract of land known as the Hollinger farm, situate partly in Paradise township, York County, Pa., and partly in Berwick township, Adams County, Pa., on the turnpike leading from York to Gettysburg, one mile east of Abbotstown, Adams County, Pa., adjoining lands of Joseph Markel, John Reichart, William Hartman, John Naege and other lands of vendors, containing 150 acres more or less, 45 acres of the same being good timber land. The improvements consist of a two-story frame weatherboarded dwelling house, large bank barn, wagon shed, hog pen, chicken house and other outbuildings. A good well of water at the house and a good well of water at the barn. There is a large orchard and fruit of all kinds on the farm. A never failing stream of water runs through three fields of this farm, and is in every way an excellent farm for raising of stock. The timber also is valuable. Sale to commence at 1 o'clock p. m., 25 per cent. cash on day of sale, balance on day of sale and the balance on April 1st, 1910. Attendance will be given and full terms of sale made known by.

Governors of Pennsylvania

JOHN ANDREW SHULZE—1823-1829.

Although ordained to the ministry in the German Lutheran church, John Andrew Shulze found it necessary by reason of ill health to give up his profession and engage in business. He was born in 1775 in Berks County, the son of a German Lutheran clergyman. He was elected a member of the house of representatives and served from 1806 to 1808. Mr. Shulze held at one time the offices of register, recorder, prothonotary, clerk of the orphan court and clerk in the sessions court of Lebanon County. He resigned the offices to go to the legislature. In 1822 he was elected governor by the Democratic party. He gave so good an account of himself while in office that 1827 he was re-elected almost unanimously. At the expiration of his service as governor he retired to private life. He died at his home in Lancaster in 1849.

France Forced to Adopt Modern Forestry.

gave to slide down into the valley, impelled by an unrestrained deluge of water. The Rhone always a swift stream, filled its bed with moving gravel and sand, and with unprecedented rapidity extended its delta out four miles into the deep water of the Mediterranean. Navigation was impeded or rendered impossible; villages which had grown wealthy on an orderly waterpower, awoke after a storm in the mountains to find their brook beyond control and their streets piled many feet deep in gravel and boulders.

The prospect of the continuation of such calamities aroused the whole people. The engineers, after experiments, discovered that in many places masonry dams must be erected at short intervals, not in order to hold up the water, but to check the decent of the stream's bed itself. The reclamation is still going on; and in many parts of France public and private energy is being concentrated to-day on this work.

Three million acres of public forests and fifteen millions of private woods are now standing but there still remains sixteen million acres absolutely barren, much of which must be conquered by brushgrass before it can be planted in trees. France has learned her lesson. Her object now is twofold: to preserve her rivers and mountains by forestry, and to provide a domestic supply of timber. She is achieving both ends rapidly, and is finding that her utmost efforts are repaid promptly in actual cash returns.—John L. Mathews in August Everybody's.

Wood By The Cord

A cord of wood is 128 cubic feet, or the contents of a pile 8 feet long, 4 feet high and 4 feet wide. Wood is marketed on this basis. A pile whose length breadth and height multiplied together gives this number of cubic feet fills the requirement, no matter whether the sticks are long or short, straight or crooked, round or split, unless there is an understanding to the contrary. Nevertheless a cord, though it comes up to legal measurements, is an uncertain quantity even when the seller is honest and the buyer satisfied.

A lumberman may have a tract of pulp wood which he sells to a paper mill at $5 a cord for as many cords as it will make. It is in the contract that he shall cut and stack it. He cuts it in 12 foot lengths and when the job is complete it measures 200 cords and he receives $1,000 for it. Would he have made or lost by cutting four foot lengths instead of twelve. He would have lost in the first place from the additional labor required to cut 4 foot wood but his principal loss would have resulted from a greatly diminished number of cubic feet, due to the fact that short sticks lie closer together than large. Had the 200 cords of 12 foot wood been cut in 4 foot lengths there would have been only 176 cords and the owner would have received for it $880 instead of $1,000. It was therefore to his advantage to cut 12 foot lengths, but it would have been to the buyer's advantage to have it cut in 4 foot lengths. He would have received the same actual quantity of wood for $120 less.

It also makes considerable difference to the seller whether wood is chopped or sawed. If chopped the chips are lost. Where the logs are large this loss amounts to no small total. In a cord of four foot wood with sticks six inches in diameter the chip loss is from 6 to 8 per cent, and of course the shorter the sticks are cut the greater the loss. If the wood is sawed the sawdust is scarcely the half of 1 per cent.

Cords of split wood contain less than cords of round sticks. The finer the wood is split the more it makes. Hence wood dealers are often willing to sell kindlings all sawed and split for the same price as a cord of unsplit wood. They get back the cost of labor in the increased bulk.

A cord (128 cubic feet) of 4 foot hard wood usually contains about 83 cubic feet of solid wood, a cord of 3 foot wood averages 83 1-2 cubic feet, of 2 cords of wood 84 feet, and of one foot wood 85 feet. The conifers (soft woods) contain 90 to 96 cubic feet. Thus the purchaser receives on an average about two-thirds of a cord of real wood and one-third of a cord of spaces.

In some countries wood is bought by weight and the buyer comes more nearly getting what he bargains for, but even then he may miss it if he receives green wood when he wants dry. According to timber testing engineers of the United States Forest Service wood may lose half or more its green weight in seasoning.

First Meeting in 50 Years.

Henry Gable, of York, and George A. Jacobs, of Galesburg, Ill., who sixty years ago attended the same school house near Mummett's meeting house in Adams County, met accidentally the other day at the Central Hotel in York. While seated in the dining room Monday, Mr. Gable heard a man who had served in the army talking to a number of persons about his experiences during the war. After he had finished his meal, Mr. Gable examined the hotel register and was delighted to learn the man was George A. Jacobs, of Galesburg, Ill.

Nearly sixty years ago the two men attended the school near Mummett's meeting house in Adams County, a short distance from East Berlin. They had not seen each other since 1850.

Both men served in the army during the Civil War. Mr. Jacobs having been wounded near Fairfax court house, in 1865. The following year Mr. Jacobs moved to Galesburg, where he has since resided. He has been a deputy sheriff of Knox County. This is his second visit to York and his native county of Adams, since he left it in 1866. His last visit to York was thirty-four years ago. He expects to remain in York and Adams Counties until September. Several brothers live in East Berlin and vicinity.

Easy Street

To those who dwell on Easy Street All things are bright and fair: Peace is police upon that beat. Joy is the postman there: We hear no cries, we read no sheet Of misery, despair.

The rents are right on Easy Street, The property select; The world of trage is glad to greet The dwellers there elect. Sun light, fresh air, and perfect heat, Contentment, we expect.

And yet Ennui's in Easy Street. As he is everywhere; Sometimes I find my life to sweet. I miss my old friend, Care: I slink away at eve to greet That gray old debaucher.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

Ten Questions will go on the Ballot at November Election.

In another column will be found the Constitutional Amendments and schedule to be voted on at the November election. The Secretary of the Commonwealth presented a number of questions to the Attorney General, in relation to these amendments and how they were to appear on the ballots.

In an opinion furnished Secretary of the Commonwealth McAfee recently Attorney General Todd advises the state department that the ten proposed amendments to the constitution of 1873 shall be printed upon the ballot in November merely in the form in which the sections will appear as amended—that both the present form and the proposed form of each section need not be printed.

The opinion also advises that the ten propositions shall be printed as ten separate questions and that the schedule for carrying the amendments into effect shall be printed as an additional question, the voters to vote "yes" or "no" upon each proposed amendment and also upon the schedule.

Secretary McAfee is also advised to advertise the amendments this year in the same fashion as last year.

The opinion of the attorney general was sought by McAfee because this is the first time in the history of the commonwealth that a schedule has accompanied amendments to a constitution, and the point decided was therefore, never before raised.

Heretofore, a schedule has accompanied only an entire new constitution. Whenever an existing constitution has been amended it has been in such a way that no schedule was necessary to carry the amendment into effect.

Because of somewhat conflicting constructions of the law under similar circumstances in the past, Secretary McAfee asked advice upon all four points mentioned. Attorney General Todd's decision regarding what has to be printed will shorten the amendments on the ballot by 50 per cent. As adopted by the legislatures of 1897 and 1899, and as advertised throughout the state last year by Secretary McAfee, the amendments recite the present form of each of the ten sections and each section so recited is followed with language of that same section, as it is proposed that it shall read if amended.

Secretary McAfee asked specifically if it is necessary that the ballot contain both the section as it stands today and the section as it is proposed it shall read if amended. Attorney General Todd cites numerous provisions of the election laws and the constitution itself in deciding this point.

Attorney General Todd's opinion gives the form for the amendments. Each is to be entitled "Proposed Amendment No.—." The sub-heading is to read "Shall Section —, Article —, of the constitution, be amended so as to read as follows?" Then follows the proper citation of the language of the proposed amendment, with blocks to the right for marking, "yes" or "no." The usual direction as to how to mark each question, according to the voter's wish are also given.

Todd then recalls that when the present constitution was submitted to a vote "no distinction seems to have been made between approving the constitution and the schedule. The schedule seems to have been treated as a part of the constitution and approved as a part thereof. A different situation presents itself at this time, for we have ten proposed amendments which must be voted upon separately and a schedule which will only be of use in case the amendments are approved by the electors.

"The amendments now proposed to the constitution materially affect the length of the terms of office of many officers and the time of their election. The schedule declares how the proposed amendments are to be put into operation without confusion or disorder. It is to be borne in mind that we are not now dealing with any question of legislation, but with the exercise of the power of the people of this commonwealth to amend the constitution.

"If these amendments are approved by a majority of those voting thereon they become at once a part of the constitution. The qualified electors, of the commonwealth, and they alone, have the right to prescribe how the proposed amendments, in case they are approved, shall be put into operation."

As to the Masonic Home.
 From information that has been received it may be considered as settled that Gettysburg will not be selected as a site for Masonic Home for Indigent Masons. While the Committee that visited this place were delighted with our country, believing it was ideal in many respects, yet information has since been received that Gettysburg will not likely be available, as not being central enough and accessible enough. Of course Gettysburg must gracefully accept the conclusion, but in passing it is worth while to note that with three trains a day from the State capital and through trains to Philadelphia, it is difficult to see how Gettysburg was placed in the unavailable class for reasons given.

There seems to have been a wrong impression gathered as to visit of the Committee to Gettysburg. Before the Committee started on their tour of inspection plots at many points were offered them and the tour of inspection was to such plots and to the exclusion of all other points. They did not visit the Springs Hotel because the same had never been formally offered them. Information had been given to some of the parties interested in the property that if that site was to be considered it would have to be formally offered accompanied by blue print. There were those here who hoped and desired that the place should be offered and discovering that no offer or blue prints had been sent to proper authorities attention was again called but same was never sent. As a result when the Committee came here they came to inspect the only site offered, the Culp farm, and would not have gone over the Springs Hotel property because it was not offered and blue print furnished.

Arrested for Unpaid Taxes
 Hamilton township had an event last week that is being much talked about. There are said to be on the tax books of that township a number of people who have not paid their taxes, and who have paid no attention to the efforts to collect them. W. F. Watson the tax collector of that township, has been making a record as a collector always being among the first to settle his duplicate with the County Commissioners. He determined to make an effort to break up the matter of the indifference as to payment of taxes and securing the services of Constable James Sanders, who arrested Harry Richardson for unpaid taxes of 1907 and 1908 amounting to $2.71. At first Mr. Richardson appeared indignant, and resolute in his determination to allow the officers to take him to jail, but before the train arrived he changed his mind, paid his taxes, and additional costs of $1.75. It is said that the occurrence is having a wholesome effect in Hamilton township on a number of others who are in arrears for taxes.

TARIFF GRAFT
 EAST BERLIN, Aug. 2.—Ex-Governor Joseph W. Folk declares the new tariff bill to be tariff graft, and that Democratic Senators and Representatives who have voted for it should be repudiated by the party and retired from Congress. In this lies the hopes of the success of real Democratic principles, that opposition to the privileges of protection seem brighter now than ever before, and the success of the Democratic party now lies in repudiating those who in congress have repudiated its principles. The people are awakening to the injustice of eighty millions of people being taxed to make a few men very wealthy. The demand now is that the people be protected against monopoly, instead of protecting monopoly against the people. He says that unless the Democratic party is against the privileges conferred by the law, then it has no reasons for existence. Too many representatives have been struggling to get a share of the tariff graft for their own states, forgetting that in so doing they are giving to other representatives the same privilege of protection for their districts regardless of the rights of the people.

Sunday morning the fire alarm bell was rung at 5 o'clock. The fire boys got out and found the large wood house at the Sunday House was on fire. In a short time the boys had the blaze out. It was discovered by one of the daughters of Mr. Sunday. The wood house was close to the buggy house, hog stable and barn and would have made an ugly fire, if it had not been caught in time, and outened before under headway. The origin of the fire is unknown.

Last Saturday evening there was a picnic at Davidsburg, and when rain started a number unhitched their horses putting them in barns nearby, later on somebody took a horse out of a stable belonging to a young man by name of Alland and hitched it in a buggy belonging to one of the sons of Henry Jacobs of this place.

We had a fine rain Sunday and corn and vegetables look much better.

Pen-Mar Reunions Next Year.
 The W. M. R. C. Co. has announced the following dates for the 1910 reunions at Pen-Mar.
 Reformed reunion—Thursday, July 14.
 Lutheran reunion—Thursday, July 21.
 Presbyterian reunion—Thursday, July 28.

It will be remembered that the Lutheran committee decided to hold its reunion on the fourth Thursday of July, as has been its custom. This would have made its date July 28—an entire week later than this year—and would have changed the dates of the other reunions. The railroad company has stepped in and announced the time for all the reunions and its dates will be accepted.

Forty Playgrounds by the Sea.

This is seashore time.

The dog days call to the worker in home, office, and mill and the answer brings up thoughts of the many resorts beside the sea where comfort, recreation, and pleasure alike await the coming of the holiday-maker.

Along the shores of New Jersey from Cape May to Sandy Hook lie forty beaches, each offering delights for outings long or short and each easily accessible by the splendid train service of the Pennsylvania Railroad.

Atlantic City, with its myriad attractions for young and old, needs no introduction, for its charms are known from the Atlantic to the Pacific.

Cape May, for a century the summering place of satisfied thousands of seekers after cool breezes, fine bathing, and the refined amusements of the seaside, is more attractive than ever in its new life.

Ocean City, Wildwood, Sea Isle City, with their smaller neighbors, Anglesea, Holly Beach, Wildwood Crest, Avalon, and Stone Harbor, afford summer pleasure to thousands.

To the north lie Beach Haven, Seaside Park, Island Heights and the other resorts about Barnegat Bay, where the lover of fishing and sailing finds the choicest sport.

Asbury Park, Ocean Grove, Spring Lake, Long Branch, Sea Girt, Point Pleasant, Allenhurst, Elberon, and Belmar on the Upper Coast where the country meets the sea right on the beach, appeal with mighty force to the vacationist.

Any Pennsylvania Railroad Ticket Agent will be glad to give full information regarding excursion rates, time of trains and arrange your outing whether it be for a day, a week or the whole summer.

Foolish question! Yet some people act as if a medicine could take the place of a doctor! The best medicine in the world cannot do this. Have a family doctor, consult him frequently, trust him fully. If we did not believe doctors endorsed Ayer's Cherry Pectoral for coughs and colds, we would not offer it to you. Ask your doctor. No alcohol in this cough medicine. J.C. Ayer Co., Lowell, Mass.

RUIN OF THE GRAIN MOTH

WHEAT FREQUENTLY RUINED BY THE WHITE WEEVIL.

Farmers Should Thrash Early to Prevent the Ruin Rather than in Unthreshed Straw.

Throughout the southeastern part of Pennsylvania there has for some years been an annual destruction of hundreds of thousands of dollars worth of wheat in the bin by a little pest very commonly called the White Weevil or Moth Weevil. As a matter of fact it is not a weevil but a moth, the larva of which lives within the grain of wheat and hollows it out to such an extent that it becomes a mere hull of bran. It is ruined for milling purposes, and, of course, badly injured for domestic use.

The Angoumois Grain Moth is so named from the province of France where its ravages were first most noted. The mature moth lays its eggs on the grains of wheat while in the head or straw and as it feeds voraciously and a short time, it multiplies rapidly, giving several successive broods. Where the wheat is left in the straw, as in the stack or mow, it has been found far worse infested than when threshed and kept in a bin. Several farmers have replied to State Zoologist Surface that they have acted upon his recommendation of threshing the grain soon after harvest, and have found the results quite satisfactory. One farmer reported that half of his crop, which was threshed shortly after harvest, was entirely uninjured by this pest; while the other half, that was not threshed until the latter part of fall, was nearly all destroyed.

This remedy, therefore, is one of the simplest, and at the same time one of the most effective, that could be applied, and consists in merely threshing the grain as early as is possible and storing it in the bin, rather than keeping it in the straw unthreshed. In the grain bin the moth weevil will work only in the top layer of grain, if at all; and, if it should be found there, as would be indicated by the heating of the grain, it can easily be killed by pouring carbon bisulfide into shallow dishes, and placing them on the grain under cover of wet blankets.

Concerning Strawberry Pests.

State Zoologist Surface received many inquiries recently concerning strawberry pests, and to these has replied that the best general means of suppressing them lies in a novel method of summer treatment of the strawberry, which many persons would hesitate to apply, but which they will find so effective that it will become a regular feature of their mode of culture after its benefits have been observed. This consists of nothing more nor less than mowing the strawberry leaves as low as possible shortly after the berries are picked; throwing these together with a little straw between the rows, drying them quickly on a hot, sunny day, and then burning them at once.

The strawberry leaf rust and leaf spot are among the diseases that are very destructive and contagious. They can be partially prevented by the use of the Bordeaux mixture, but the germs causing the leaf destruction remain in the old patch from one year to another. Also, the aphid and several other insect pests attack the leaves during the summer. It has been found that if the leaves are mowed closely on a warm, dry day, and slightly dried and mixed with just a little straw and then burned, the pests are practically all destroyed, and the plants themselves escape uninjured. Consequently, this is the time of year to give such treatment.

Good new runners will be formed at once; especially if a little commercial fertilizer or finely divided manure from the stable or poultry house be scattered over the roots of the old plants and these be cultivated in the regular manner. New leaves will yet be formed this season, and the plants will be put in good condition for bearing a much more abundant and a healthier crop next year than if the leaves had not been burned. Persons who doubt the efficiency of this treatment should mow the leaves of some of the plants, and see the results for themselves.

Y. P. S. C. E. ELECT OFFICERS.

BARLOW, July 30. Last Sunday evening the Y. P. S. C. E. at Mountjoy church, elected the following officers: Pres. Walter Spangler, Vice Pres. Mervin Benner, Sec. Miss Effie Schwartz, Treas. Miss Margie Scott. The Christian Endeavor Society of the Mountjoy church, was favored, on Sunday evening by having the Rudisill quartette, of St. James Lutheran church of Gettysburg, sing for them. The audience room was well filled. The Mountjoy people appreciate good singing, and an invitation was extended to them to come back again. Rudisill's quartette can't be beat by any one that has ever entered the church before this. Thanks for this excellent singing.

Welcome rain on Friday morning. Mrs. George Boyd and daughter, Miss Rose, spent a few days last week visiting friends in Waynesboro.

Dry Street Sweeping

The question has come up in Harrisburg whether dry sweeping of streets should be abolished by law. It is said that when house-holders are not content to sweep pavements and gutters, but stir up a cloud of dust by sweeping the streets, that the germs of many diseases are scattered so as to get in the systems of people.

Dr. Samuel B. Dixon State Health Commissioner was asked for his opinion on dry sweeping of streets and said:

"I heartily endorse the principle of moistening the streets before sweeping. They should not be dry swept. Anything that tends to keep down the dust is an advantage and a help to the community. There is no question but diseases are spread by dry street sweeping. In some of the larger cities the new kind of sweepers do not make much dust but the principle of moistening the streets is all right, and I heartily endorse it."

In view of the agitation at Harrisburg, it is possible that one of the things of the future is to be forbidden to sweep streets when dry.

Natural Gas Pipe Line.

Several months ago mention was made of the big pipe line from West Virginia to Baltimore to convey natural gas to latter city. The pipe line will cost $12,000,000. Work has begun and will be rushed to completion. Three hundred laborers were started to work at Lost Creek, W. Va., and the number will be augmented when the work gets in full swing. The company has been experiencing much trouble in securing the teams, and has been offering $6 a day for a double team and driver. This is the highest price ever paid in the region. The line will be a 16-inch one and one of the most important in the country. Fifty cars of pipe are now at Lost Creek.

Hagerstown has been asking questions that will apply to many towns along and near the route of pipe line. Will our Gas people go to work right away arranging for a connection and cheap gas or will they let matters go to such a pass that Natural Gas will come without their aid and to their great loss?

Love, Tomatoes

By ESTELLE CLAYTON.

Copyrighted, 1909, by Associated Literary Press.

The big man of the town of Strongsville was Jacob Strong. First, his grandfather had founded the town; second, he had been a justice of the peace for some years; third, he had received almost votes enough once to send him to the legislature, and, lastly, he was worth about $30,000.

Mr. Strong felt his bigness and exacted respect accordingly. He did his best to make his son Horace and his daughter Maudie feel their superiority over all other human beings in and around Strongsville. He succeeded admirably with the daughter, but the conduct of his son gave him no little anxiety.

One morning he said to the latter: "Horace, I am pained and humiliated to learn that for months past you have been paying attention to the daughter of Scribner, the carpenter. You have been riding with her, and you have frequently called at the house. What does it mean?"

"Miss Scribner is a nice young woman, sir," was the reply. "She is as well educated as our Maudie and has as good manners."

"Tut, tut, sir! Make no such comparisons. If you forget who and what I am, you ought to be ashamed of yourself. Being the son of a man of position and wealth, with more wealth and social prestige coming, you must look higher, sir, far higher."

It was true that Miss Nettie Scribner was the daughter of a carpenter, but as the favorite of her Aunt Hilda Bascomb, a rich old spinster, the girl had been sent to a seminary and enjoyed exceptional opportunities. In all but wealth she was the peer of any girl in the county.

As a matter of fact the couple were engaged, but keeping it a secret. Horace had hoped that when the time came to announce the fact to his father it would be received at least in a reasonable way, but the conversation of the morning showed him the breakers ahead.

What Mr. Strong meant when he referred to more wealth and social prestige coming was the fact that he had organized the Strongsville Cannery company. The cannery building was already under way. It was a fertile farming country around the town, but with poor facilities for shipping fruits and vegetables, and he had conceived and entered on the idea of a tomato cannery.

He had investigated until he was certain that the profits would be large. He put in almost all the money and controlled things, and what few other stockholders there were did not belong to Strongsville.

As president of a tomato cannery Jacob Strong felt himself to be a tangible object. He was right there and all there in his pomposity. He didn't propose to have any of his neighbors feel that as stockholders they need not have too much awe of him.

Of course the magnate's son informed the carpenter's daughter of the situation of affairs. Young Horace was determined to disobey his father at any cost; but, fortunately, Aunt Hilda arrived on her annual visit. She didn't exactly believe that all people were equal, but she bowed to none. If a carpenter and a blacksmith were honest and respectable men they were just as good in her eyes as magnates. The Scribners attempted to keep the secret from her, but she hadn't been in the house a day when she turned on her sister and said:

"Mary, there's something going on here, and I want to know all about it. I find Nettie looking piqued and sorrowful, and she hasn't eaten enough at three meals to keep a bird alive. No use trying to keep it from me. What's the matter?"

She was told, and when she had the particulars she set her jaw and nodded her head, which showed that she had made up her mind. Just what it was she didn't say that evening, but she did tell it next morning when she put on her rusty old bonnet and sallied out. She said merely that she had a business matter to attend to.

Mr. Magnate Strong had a business office in the town, of course. Aunt Hilda made a straight course for it and plunged herself down in a chair in front of the great man to say:

"Jacob Strong, my niece and your boy were attracted toward each other and they have fallen in love and are engaged. I understand that you oppose the contemplated marriage."

"With all my soul, and if you are here to say anything in favor of it you may as well save your breath. I wonder that you and the impudence to appear at all."

"And what are your objections?" quietly asked Aunt Hilda as she got a strong hold of her temper.

"You have no right to ask!" he shouted at her. "But I will tell you at least one objection. No son of mine can mate with the daughter of a common carpenter."

"No?" Jacob Strong, how long did your father get a skinny living off a mighty poor thirty acres of ground in Michigan and what did he amount to as a man? How far back is it since you were running an old sawmill on Ten Mile creek in the same state? Mr. Scribner is a carpenter, but his pedigree is as good as yours."

"If you were a man I'd throw you out of the office!" shouted Jacob Strong. "But, being I'm a woman, I'll walk out as fast as I can. I just called to let you know, Jacob, that I have arrived in town. Please keep a little track of me for the next two weeks. Will you?"

The aunt reached home smiling and chuckling. She said a word to Nettie's head and said soothingly:

"I talked up to old Strong today. It was right that I should. But I haven't spoiled anything. Give me two weeks and I'll have him here begging you to marry his son. You tell the young man to remain quiet and do nothing rash. Hilda Bascomb is managing this affair, which will be one of finance from now on, and if she makes a failure it will be for the first time. Now I've got to go back downtown and see a lawyer, and then I'll have some riding around the country to do. Oh, but won't I make old Strong jump before I am through with him?"

In planning for the cannery Mr. Strong had called upon most of the farmers and had informed them positively that thereafter he would buy their tomatoes at the market price. He had made no definite agreement with them, however, for he had determined to pay a mighty low price when the time came.

Miss Hilda Bascomb saw lawyers and had contracts drawn up. With a boy to drive her, she covered most of the county the week after the interview with the magnate. Contracts were signed right and left, and something was added for secrecy among the signers.

Meanwhile the tomato cannery was hurried along, and the fixtures arrived to be put in place. In her walks about the town the spinster met Mr. Strong several times face to face. Every time he scowled and she chuckled. There was anxiety at the Scribners' to learn what was afoot, but the only explanation they could get was:

"I am simply doing a little financing to help Cupid and the tomato market along. When it's time to explode the torpedo you'll all hear the racket."

She had been in Strongsville almost a month when the racket was heard. The cannery was ready for business, and the farmers had been notified to begin delivery on a certain date. The date came, but there were no tomatoes.

A messenger was dispatched with a horse and buggy. He had been back about half an hour when Miss Bascomb entered Mr. Strong's office for the second time and plumped herself down in the same chair.

Mr. Strong was at the telephone. He was using vigorous language and dancing around.

"Well, and how's the tomato market?" asked the caller as he glared at her and rung off.

"It is you—you who have done this thing," he exclaimed, "to revenge your self! You! You!"

"Yes, I have cornered every tomato in the county. It wasn't for revenge, but to give Cupid a chance. How much will you take for your factory, cash down? It hasn't any pedigree to speak of, but I think Mr. Scribner, the carpenter, can give it one."

"I won't sell to you! Your tomatoes can rot on your hands!"

"Oh, no, you won't, Jacob!" chuckled Miss Hilda. "I can sell them at a very nice profit. But your factory can stand idle while I build one of my own! Better talk business, Jacob Strong. That son of yours is a nice young man, and I think a heap of my niece. It's a love match, and it would be a pity to see it broken off. Isn't there some way that I can turn these tomato contracts over to you and let your factory begin work? There's money in the cannery business, and I don't want to kill an industry."

Mr. Strong fought for an hour and then gave in and shook hands. By the time the contracts were assigned to him he was smiling. By the time the woman in the rusty old bonnet was ready to go he was ready to remark blandly:

"Just so, Miss Bascomb; just so. Mr. and Mrs. Scribner are most worthy people, and if Horace is in love with their daughter I have no objections to a marriage. He is old enough to judge for himself, and it is not for me to interfere. Good day, ma'am, good day and thank you ever so much for calling."

Unpoised Lives.

The life of the criminal is simply an unpoised life. If a person were perfectly poised wrongdoing would be so repugnant that it would be unthinkable.

It is the one-sided, the unpoised mind that goes wrong. It is just as normal for the balanced mind to choose the right, the good, as for the magnet to draw to itself whatever is kindred.

Just as the needle in the mariner's compass always points to the North star, no matter how thick the fog or how the tempest rages, there is a needle within every human being which always points to the North star of rectitude, of right, of truth, no matter what storms of discord, of weakness or of crime may be raging in the individual mind. Nothing can prevent this little indicator from pointing to the right, no matter how far the individual may drift from it, how low he may sink in vicious living.—Success Magazine.

A New Part of Pork.

The teacher had been reading to her class of the industries of Russia. Among others mentioned was pig raising. The pig is used almost exclusively as an article of food, very little of his body being valued except his flesh and his bristles.

"The Russians have much to learn from the Americans in this respect," she continued. "In America all parts of the pig are used except his squeal."

At this point a pupil raised her hand and asked in all innocence: "What part of the animal is the squeal?"—Lippincott's.

The Quippy Ink Thief.

"Women prisoners is quippy," said the jailer. "One had a quip toward writin', and she was always swippin' ink out of the schoolroom."

"She swiped ink in her thimble. She'd fill the thimble up to the brim and then stand it carefully in her hair. Mighty good balancin' was required on the way back to her cell. Still, what if she did spill a drop or two on her scalp? A female convict ain't no view like a society woman, is she?"

"Of course as soon as we got on to the thimble game we put a stop to it. That didn't put a stop to the ink stealin', though. I says to her one day on the way back from the schoolroom:

"Well, Russell, no more poetry writin' with ink what don't belong to ye, hey?"

"She just smiled and mumbled something."

"Speak up," says I. 'De ye miss yer ink—yes or no?"

"Don't know," says she, tryin' to brush past me. But I grabbed her arm. I noticed a thin black thread of smuttin' tricklin' from her lips. Yes, sir! Would ye believe it? She was stealin' the people's ink now in her mouth!"—New Orleans Times-Democrat.

Poor Billiards.

"One summer in the country," said a well known amateur billiardist, "another man and I were overtaken by a storm and had to go into a tavern for shelter. The rain fell steadily. We had three or four long hours before us. Time began to hang heavily on our hands."

"Landlord," said I, 'do you happen to have a billiard table?"

"Sure," said the landlord. "Sure. Just step this way, gents."

"He proudly threw open the door of a dark, stuffy room. We saw an antiquated table with a patched cloth, and in the corner was a rack of crooked cues."

"Any balls?" said I.

"Sure," said the landlord, and he unlocked a closet and laid on the table three white balls, all alike—there was no spot, you know."

"But, see here," I remonstrated, 'how do you tell these balls apart?"

"Oh, that's all right," said he. "You soon get to know 'em by their shape."—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

To Be Sharp.

The Aryan root "ak" meant "to be sharp," and the idea of sharpness has followed it at least through 10,000 years into all of the family of languages of that tongue. It is quite likely that the property of sharpness was conceived of by these ancestors from handling shells, the first knives that man knew. That cutting edge was referred to by "ak" long before the most primitive people had learned to put an edge on flint. When these Aryans wanted to express the idea of sharpness of mind they used the same word. This root went into the Greek, where it became "akros," meaning pointed. In Sanskrit it is "akre," meaning the same thing. In the Latin we find "acrimonia," signifying sharpness, from which our "acid" comes. The Latin also has "acer," meaning sharp, and "acutus," a needle. In the Anglo-Saxon it became "eag," an edge. So the idea of sharpness runs all the way through, and we have it in our "acid," "acute," "edge" and "ax" as well as in "acid" and "acumen."—Argonaut.

The Alexandrian Library.

Omar, a fanatical caliph who overran Egypt about the middle of the seventh century, proclaimed that, since the Koran contained everything that human beings ought to read, no other books had any right to exist, so he condemned to destruction the immense library at Alexandria founded by the Ptolemies and constantly enlarged by their successors until the advent of the Saracens. How enormous it was can be imagined from the fact that for six months the manuscripts supplied the fuel of 4,000 public baths. It was the most terrible blow ever inflicted upon literature.

Genius Rewarded.

A schoolmaster not famous for his personal beauty swooped down on the inattentive boy and found him drawing caricatures. He picked up one and asked the boy in a voice of thunder, "Is this meant for me?"

"Please, sir," said the victim, in a state of terror—"please, sir, I did not mean to make it so like."

The master destroyed the picture and let the matter drop.—London Globe.

Thought It Was a Proposal.

Scene—Cabstand near London. Lady distributing tracts, hands one to caddy, who glances at it, hands it back and says politely, "Thank you, lady, but I'm a married man." Lady nervously looks at the title and, reading "Abide with me," hurriedly departs, to the great amusement of caddy.—London Spare Moments.

But He Did.

"What do you mean by kissing my daughter, sir?"

"I'm sorry, but I couldn't help myself."

"Couldn't help yourself! That's just what you did do!"

Heard in the Barber Shop.

"Our charges are the lowest in town," observed the barber.

"Cut rates, eh?" said the customer as he looked at his lacerated chin in the glass.—Judge.

Undecided.

"If he has proposed, why don't you give him an answer?"

"I can't make up my mind whether I would like him when I got him home."—Brooklyn Life.

MANY SNAKE TRACKS.

ARENDTSTOWN, Aug. 2.—Last Friday morning when John A. Knouss and Geo. W. Minter of this place drove to the graveyard at the Buchanan Valley Church to put up tombstones, they counted 69 snake tracks across the road in the dust. Arbie Carbaugh, one of our Arendtstown butchers drove over the same route and counted 68 tracks. Snakes do not move around much during the day, mostly laying quiet in the hot sun and go to the water during the night.

The two stores in this place will be closed from 11 a. m. to 7 p. m. on the 4th inst., on account of the union Sunday school picnic to be held in David G. Minter's grove near here.

John A. Spangler of Winterset, Ia., and his brother Geo. E., of Gettysburg, made a short call with relatives in this place recently.

Allen B. Trostle of the firm of H. W. Trostle & Son, spent a few days last week with his brother Ira W. Trostle in Hillsburg.

PROPOSED AMENDMENTS TO THE CONSTITUTION SUBMITTED TO THE CITIZENS FOR THEIR APPROVAL OR REJECTION, BY THE GENERAL ASSEMBLY OF THE COMMONWEALTH OF PENNSYLVANIA, AND PUBLISHED BY ORDER OF THE SECRETARY OF THE COMMONWEALTH, IN PURSUANCE OF ARTICLE XVIII. OF THE CONSTITUTION.

A JOINT RESOLUTION
Proposing amendments to sections eight and twenty-one of article four, sections eleven and twelve of article five, sections two, three, and four of article eight, section one of article twelve, and sections two and seven of article fourteen, of the Constitution of Pennsylvania, and providing a schedule for carrying the amendments into effect.

Section 1. Be it resolved by the Senate and House of Representatives of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania in General Assembly met, That the following are proposed as amendments to the Constitution of the Commonwealth of Pennsylvania, in accordance with the provisions of the eighteenth article thereof:—

Amendment One—To Article Four, Section Eight:

Section 2. Amend section eight of article four of the Constitution of Pennsylvania which reads as follows:—

"He shall nominate and, by and with the advice and consent of two-thirds of all the members of the Senate, appoint a Secretary of the Commonwealth and an Attorney General during pleasure, a Superintendent of Public Instruction for four years, and such other officers of the Commonwealth as he is or may be authorized by the Constitution or by law to appoint; he shall have power to fill all vacancies that may happen. In offices to which he may appoint, during the recess of the Senate, by granting commissions which shall expire at the end of their next session; he shall have power to fill any vacancy that may happen, during the recess of the Senate, in the office of Auditor General, State Treasurer, Secretary of Internal Affairs or Superintendent of Public Instruction, in a judicial office, or in any other elective office which he is or may be authorized to fill; if the vacancy shall happen during the session of the Senate, the Governor shall nominate to the Senate, before their final adjournment, a proper person to fill said vacancy; but in any such case of vacancy, in an elective office, a person shall be chosen to said office at the next general election, unless the vacancy shall happen within three calendar months immediately preceding such election, in which case the election for said office shall be held at the second succeeding general election. In acting on executive nominations the Senate shall sit with open doors, and, in confirming or rejecting the nominations of the Governor, the vote shall be taken by yeas and nays, and shall be entered on the journal," so as to read as follows:—

He shall nominate and, by and with the advice and consent of two-thirds of all the members of the Senate, appoint a Secretary of the Commonwealth and an Attorney General during pleasure, a Superintendent of Public Instruction for four years, and such other officers of the Commonwealth as he is or may be authorized by the Constitution or by law to appoint; he shall have power to fill all vacancies that may happen. In offices to which he may appoint, during the recess of the Senate, by granting commissions which shall expire at the end of their next session; he shall have power to fill any vacancy that may happen, during the recess of the Senate, in the office of Auditor General, State Treasurer, Secretary of Internal Affairs or Superintendent of Public Instruction, in a judicial office, or in any other elective office which he is or may be authorized to fill; if the vacancy shall happen during the session of the Senate, the Governor shall nominate to the Senate, before their final adjournment, a proper person to fill said vacancy; but in any such case of vacancy, in an elective office, a person shall be chosen to said office on the next election day appropriate to such office, according to the provisions of this Constitution, unless the vacancy shall happen within two calendar months immediately preceding such election day, in which case the election for said office shall be held on the second succeeding election day appropriate to such office. In acting on executive nominations the Senate shall sit with open doors, and, in confirming or rejecting the nominations of the Governor, the vote shall be taken by yeas and nays, and shall be entered on the journal.

Amendment Two—To Article Four, Section Twenty-one.

Section 3. Amend section twenty-one of article four, which reads as follows:—

"The term of the Secretary of Internal Affairs shall be four years; of the Auditor General three years; and of the State Treasurer two years. These officers shall be chosen by the qualified electors of the State at general elections. No person elected to the office of Auditor General or State Treasurer shall be capable of holding the same office for two consecutive terms," so as to read:—

The terms of the Secretary of Internal Affairs, the Auditor General, and the State Treasurer shall each be four years; and they shall be chosen by the qualified electors of the State at general elections; but a State Treasurer, elected in the year one thousand nine hundred and nine, shall serve for three years, and his successors shall be elected at the general election in the year one thousand nine hundred and twelve and in every fourth year thereafter. No person elected to the office of Auditor General or State Treasurer shall be capable of holding the same office for two consecutive terms.

Amendment Three—To Article Five, Section Eleven.

Section 4. Amend section eleven of article five, which reads as follows:—

"Except as otherwise provided in this Constitution, justices of the peace or aldermen shall be elected in the several wards, districts, boroughs and townships at the time of the election of constables, by the qualified electors thereof, in such manner as shall be directed by law, and shall be commissioned by the Governor for a term of five years

No township, ward, district or borough shall elect more than two justices of the peace or aldermen without the consent of a majority of the qualified electors within such township, ward or borough; no person shall be elected to such office unless he shall have resided within the township, borough, ward or district for one year next preceding his election. In cities containing over fifty thousand inhabitants, not more than one alderman shall be elected in each ward or district," so as to read:—

Except as otherwise provided in this Constitution, justices of the peace or aldermen shall be elected in the several wards, districts, boroughs or townships, by the qualified electors thereof, at the municipal election, in such manner as shall be directed by law, and shall be commissioned by the Governor for a term of six years. No township, ward, district or borough shall elect more than two justices of the peace or aldermen without the consent of a majority of the qualified electors within such township, ward or borough; no person shall be elected to such office unless he shall have resided within the township, borough, ward or district for one year next preceding his election. In cities containing over fifty thousand inhabitants, not more than one alderman shall be elected in each ward or district.

Amendment Four—To Article Five, Section Twelve.

Section 5. Amend section twelve of article five of the Constitution, which reads as follows:—

"In Philadelphia there shall be established, for each thirty thousand inhabitants, one court, not of record, of police and civil causes, with jurisdiction not exceeding one hundred dollars; such courts shall be held by magistrates whose term of office shall be five years and they shall be elected on general ticket by the qualified voters at large; and in the election of the said magistrates no voter shall vote for more than two-thirds of the number of persons to be elected when more than one are to be chosen; they shall be compensated only by fixed salaries, to be paid by said county; and shall exercise such jurisdiction, civil and criminal, except as herein provided, as is now exercised by aldermen, subject to such changes, not involving an increase of civil jurisdiction or conferring political duties, as may be made by law. In Philadelphia the office of alderman is abolished," so as to read as follows:—

In Philadelphia there shall be established, for each thirty thousand inhabitants, one court, not of record, of police and civil causes, with jurisdiction not exceeding one hundred dollars; such courts shall be held by magistrates whose term of office shall be six years, and they shall be elected on general ticket at the municipal election, by the qualified voters at large; and in the election of the said magistrates no voter shall vote for more than two-thirds of the number of persons to be elected when more than one are to be chosen; they shall be compensated only by fixed salaries, to be paid by said county; and shall exercise such jurisdiction, civil and criminal, except as herein provided, as is now exercised by aldermen, subject to such changes, not involving an increase of civil jurisdiction or conferring political duties, as may be made by law. In Philadelphia the office of alderman is abolished.

Amendment Five—To Article Eight, Section Two.

Section 6. Amend section two of article eight, which reads as follows:—

"The general election shall be held annually on the Tuesday next following the first Monday of November, but the General Assembly may by law fix a different day, two-thirds of all the members of each House consenting thereto," so as to read:—

The general election shall be held biennially on the Tuesday next following the first Monday of November in each even-numbered year, but the General Assembly may by law fix a different day, two-thirds of all the members of each House consenting thereto: Provided, That such election shall always be held in an even-numbered year.

Amendment Six—To Article Eight, Section Three.

Section 7. Amend section three of article eight, which reads as follows:—

"All elections for city, ward, borough and township officers, for regular terms of service, shall be held on the third Tuesday of February," so as to read:—

All judges elected by the electors of the State at large may be elected at either a general or municipal election, as circumstances may require. All elections for judges of the courts for the several judicial districts, and for county, city, ward, borough, and township officers for regular terms of service, shall be held on the municipal election day; namely, the Tuesday next following the first Monday of November in each odd-numbered year, but the General Assembly may by law fix a different day, two-thirds of all the members of each House consenting thereto: Provided, That such election shall always be held in an odd-numbered year.

Amendment Seven—To Article Eight, Section Fourteen.

Section 8. Amend section fourteen of article eight, which reads as follows:—

District election boards shall consist of a judge and two inspectors, who shall be chosen annually by the citizens. Each elector shall have the right to vote for the judge and one inspector, and each inspector shall appoint one clerk. The first election board for any new district shall be selected, and vacancies in election boards filled, as shall be provided by law. Election officers shall be privileged from arrest upon days of election, and while engaged in making up and transmitting returns, except upon warrant of a court of record or judge thereof, for an election fraud, for felony, or for wanton breach of the peace. In cities they may claim exemption from jury duty during their terms of service," so as to read:—

District election boards shall consist of a judge and two inspectors, who shall be chosen biennially, by the citizens at the municipal election; but the General Assembly may require said boards to be appointed in such manner as it may by law provide. Laws regulating the appointment of said boards may be enacted to apply to cities only: Provided, That such laws be uniform for cities of the same class.

Each elector shall have the right to vote for the judge and one inspector, and each inspector shall appoint one clerk. The first election board for any new district shall be selected, and vacancies in election boards filled, as shall be provided by law. Election officers shall be privileged from arrest upon days of election, and while engaged in making up and transmitting returns, except upon warrant of a court of record, or judge thereof, for an election fraud, for felony, or for wanton breach of the peace. In cities they may claim exemption from jury duty during their terms of service.

Amendment Eight—To Article Twelve, Section One.

Section 9. Amend section one, article twelve, which reads as follows:—

"All officers, whose selection is not provided for in this Constitution, shall be elected or appointed as may be directed by law," so as to read:—

All officers, whose selection is not provided for in this Constitution, shall be elected or appointed as may be directed by law: Provided, That elections of State officers shall be held on a general election day, and elections of local officers shall be held on a municipal election day, except when, in either case, special elections may be required to fill unexpired terms.

Amendment Nine—To Article Fourteen, Section Two.

Section 10. Amend section two of article fourteen, which reads as follows:—

"County officers shall be elected at the general elections and shall hold their offices for the term of three years beginning on the first Monday of January next after their election, and until their successors shall be duly qualified; all vacancies not otherwise provided for, shall be filled in such manner as may be provided by law," so as to read:—

County officers shall be elected at the municipal elections and shall hold their offices for the term of four years, beginning on the first Monday of January next after their election, and until their successors shall be duly qualified; all vacancies not otherwise provided for, shall be filled in such manner as may be provided by law.

Amendment Ten—To Article Fourteen, Section Seven.

Section 11. Amend section seven, article fourteen, which reads as follows:—

"Three county commissioners and three county auditors shall be elected in each county where such officers are chosen, in the year one thousand eight hundred and seventy-five and every third year thereafter; and in the election of said officers each qualified elector shall vote for no more than two persons, and the three persons having the highest number of votes shall be elected; any casual vacancy in the office of county commissioner or county auditor shall be filled, by the court of common pleas of the county in which such vacancy shall occur, by the appointment of an elector of the proper county who shall have voted for the commissioner or auditor whose place is to be filled," so as to read:—

Three county commissioners and three county auditors shall be elected in each county where such officers are chosen, in the year one thousand nine hundred and eleven and every fourth year thereafter; and in the election of said officers each qualified elector shall vote for no more than two persons, and the three persons having the highest number of votes shall be elected; any casual vacancy in the office of county commissioner or county auditor shall be filled by the court of common pleas of the county in which such vacancy shall occur, by the appointment of an elector of the proper county who shall have voted for the commissioner or auditor whose place is to be filled.

Schedule for the Amendments.

Section 12. That no inconvenience may arise from the changes in the Constitution of the Commonwealth, and in order to carry the same into complete operation, it is hereby declared that:—

In the case of officers elected by the people, all terms of office fixed by act of Assembly at an odd number of years shall each be lengthened one year, but the Legislature may change the length of the term, provided the terms for which such officers are elected shall always be for an even number of years.

The above extension of official terms shall not affect officers elected at the general election of one thousand nine hundred and eight; nor any city, ward, borough, township, or election division officers, whose terms of office, under existing law, end in the year one thousand nine hundred and ten.

In the year one thousand nine hundred and ten the municipal election shall be held on the third Tuesday of February, as heretofore; but all officers chosen at that election to an office the regular term of which is two years, and also all election officers and assessors chosen at that election, shall serve until the first Monday of December in the year one thousand nine hundred and eleven. All officers chosen at that election to offices the term of which is now four years, or is made four years by the operation of these amendments or this schedule, shall serve until the first Monday of December in the year one thousand nine hundred and thirteen. All justices of the peace, magistrates, and aldermen, chosen at that election, shall serve until the first Monday of December in the year one thousand nine hundred and fifteen. After the year nineteen hundred and ten, and until the Legislature shall otherwise provide, all terms of city, ward, borough, township, and election division officers shall begin on the first Monday of December in an odd-numbered year.

All city, ward, borough, and township officers holding office at the date of the approval of these amendments, whose terms of office may end in the year one thousand nine hundred and eleven, shall continue to hold their offices until the first Monday of December of that year.

All judges of the courts for the several judicial districts, and also all county officers, holding office at the date of the approval of these amendments, whose terms of office may end in the year one thousand nine hundred and eleven, shall continue to hold their offices until the first Monday of December of that year.

their offices until the first Monday of January, one thousand nine hundred and twelve.
